TJ industrial label printers now comes with

5 YEARS WARRANTY AS STANDARD

Launching 1st September 2024

TJ Industrial label printers

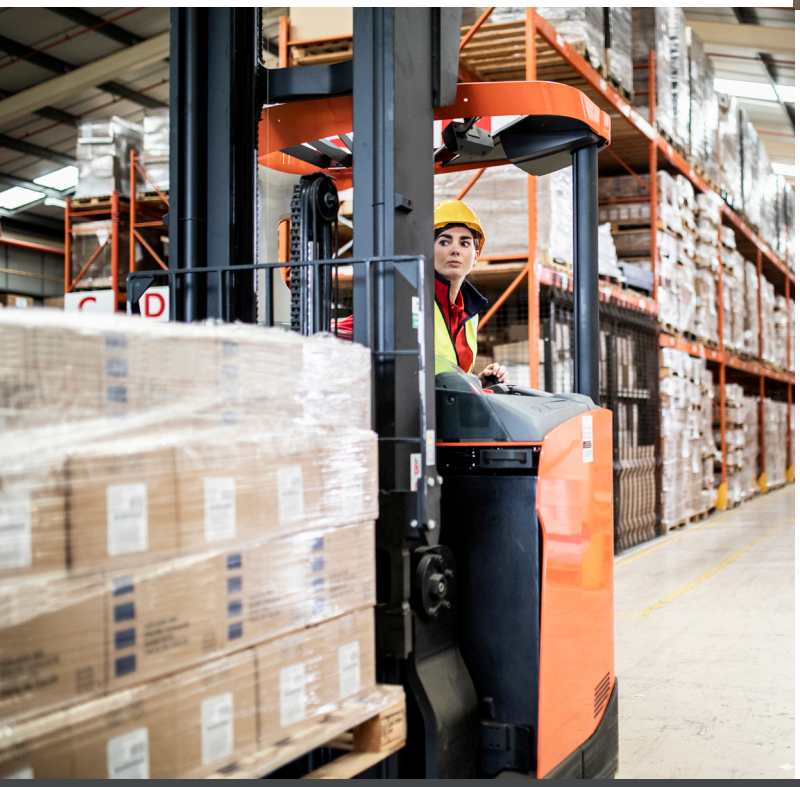
Brother recognises the importance of minimising operational downtime which can be costly to any organisation. We're confident our TJ industrial label printers can deliver on this, so we've increased the standard warranty from 3 to 5 years, giving you added peace of mind.

Why choose Brother?

We understand that for certain business applications, downtime simply isn't an option. Interruptions in label printing can have a significant impact on operations, leading to various additional costs to your business. Lost productivity means nothing is going out the door, which can have a huge impact in a distribution centre.

In addition to outstanding warranties, we also offer a range of Service Packs to ensure downtime is kept to a bare minimum.

Contact your local Brother Sales representative for more information on Service Packs.



Brother has asked warehouse managers experiencing downtime what this translated into for their business, 51% of people had to take time out of their schedule to arrange repair. 28% of managers spent a whole day without a machine available.

And 10% of people had downtime that lasted for days, or even weeks within the last six months. Resulting in loss of revenue and dissatisfied customers.

Brothers 5-year return to base warranty and their Service Packs protects business from delays and avoidable inconveniences.
